The main conclusion of this study: the Chinese government financial support for agricultural research decisions is a subject to different stakeholders impact public selection process. 2. Catch up with the industrial development strategy of the institutional background created the modern Chinese society's four major interest groups: farmers, state-owned enterprises, urban residents and government administrative agencies. The welfare effects of agricultural research in distributed between producers and consumers depend on the price elasticity of agricultural supply and demand price elasticity is the price elasticity of demand for agricultural products in particular, plays a decisive role in the base. 4. Government living in the center position in the public selection process for Chinese Agricultural Policy. In our public selection process, policy competition between stakeholders cater to the preferences of the Government through their occupational characteristics, mode of production, industrial scale, the impact of the government utility maximization processes expanded. Catching-up development strategy and its system of rigid role of the public selection process, farmers and agriculture can not get the advantage of the policy status comparable to that of urban residents, the state-owned enterprises and other stakeholders, and more powerless to change the government's urbanization. The industrialization policy preferences are the underlying causes of government...
