Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Principle of Individuality in the Philosophy of Thomas Hill Green a Thesis Presented to the Faculty of the Graduate School, of Cornell University for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy In this monograph no attempt will be made to deal with Greens ethical or political theories, the purpose being rather to examine and define the deeper lying metaphysical principles of which his ethical and political philosophy is but the expression. Such an aim is in keeping with the spirit of Greens philosophy, for he himself tells us that a metaphysic of morals is the proper foundation, though not the whole, of every system of Ethics (Prolegomena to Ethics, sec.2.) It is common enough to deny that there is any vital connection between ethics and metaphysics, and this opinion was probably just as common when Green wrote as it is today, as the Introduction to the Prolegomena clearly shows. With the arguments again which may be brought in support of either side of this question the present study is not concerned; for however such a...
