Not illustrated. 1894 Excerpt: . of the fall was registered on two days, the 8th and 18th. April, May and June were calm, only two short heavy blows having occurred in April and one in June. The wind hardly stirred along the coast in May. Neither temperature nor rainfall departed very widely from the average. The mean degree of heat was nearly uniform throughout April, except for one burst of exceptionally high temperature between the 21st and 26th, during which the weather would have been perfectly dry but for a short hail storm on the 22nd. The maximum temperature for April was 82 (on the 23rd); the minimum (on the 6th) was 36.3. The rainfall was 28 per cent, below the average. In May there were no periods of wide range of temperature. The maximum, 86, was recorded on the 23rd; the minimum, 45.7, on the 3rd. There were five days of heavy rain, distributed at equal intervals through the month, the rainfall being thus brought to 18 per cent, above the average. Otherwise, short and light showers were of frequent occurrence. June was marked by wide variations in the degree of heat. The maximum temperature, 100.4, was reached on the 29th; the minimum, 56.2, was registered on the 2nd. The rainfall was 23 per cent, below the average. The beginning of summer may be dated from the last week of May. July was tempestuous: the roll of distant thunder was heard frequently, and there were three particularly heavy blows...
